

Store Committee

The Store Committee is responsible for planning the operation of Nature's Overlook store and the Visitor Information desk in the Wildlife Center. Committee Members of the Committee must be Members of Friends of the Refuge.

Among the responsibilities assumed by members of the committee are helping to select and purchase items for sale in the store. Only items directly related to the mission of Tualatin River National Wildlife Refuge can be offered for sale.

Our volunteer store manager handles the day to day operation of the store and reports to the committee and the Friends Board on topics pertinent to the store. Other volunteers help with receiving and processing new merchandise, getting it ready to sell; creating attractive, interesting, and informative displays; planning special store events; marketing; and ensuring that volunteers are available for each store shift.

Most members of the committee work shifts in the store each month.

New members with an interest in retail sales and customer service are always welcome to join the committee.
